

ASSOCIATE JUSTICE
PNEUMONIA VICTIM

Daniel Edward Hydrick Passes Away
Away in Washington.—Funeral
In Spartanburg Today.

Washington, Jan. 15.—Judge D. E Hydrick, associate justice of the supreme court of South Carolina, died of pneumonia at the Raleigh hotel this morning at 1:15 o'clock. With him at the time of death was his son, Dr. J. L. Hydrick. Mrs. J. M. Wallace of Spartanburg, a daughter was on her way to Washington when the end came.

Judge Hydrick came to Washington December 31. He became ill on the first day of the year. His illness in the beginning was diagnosed as la grippe in severe form. Pneumonia developed.

In addition to the children in Washington, Judge Hydrick is survived by another son, Daniel Hydrick of Spartanburg, and a daughter, Miss Ellie Lee Hydrick of Phoenix, Ariz.

Funeral at Spartanburg.

Spartanburg, Jan. 15.—Associate Justice D. E. Hydrick of the South Carolina supreme court, who died last night in Washington, succumbed to an attack of bronchial pneumonia following la grippe, which forced the associate justice to stop at the national capital, while en route to Spartanburg from Baltimore to spend the Christmas holidays with his son, Dr. John Lee Hydrick, who is connected with the Rockefeller foundation.

The remains will arrive in Spartanburg at 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon accompanied by Dr. Hydrick and Mrs. Wallace. Funeral arrangements have not yet been completed, but interment will be in Oakwood, where Mrs. Hydrick, who died some years ago, was buried.

Associate Justice D. E. Hydrick was about 60 years of age and was considered one of the most scholarly lawyers and jurists South Carolina has produced.

FORBID BERLIN SECURITY POLICE TO WEAR UNDEMOCRATIC MONOCLE

Berlin, Jan. 15.—The wearing of monocles by officials or members of the Security Police is forbidden in an order issued today by Minister of Interior Severing on the ground that it is an "affectation and a reminder of the monarchical days."

"Earnest minded officials," says the order, "should discard such trimmings in view of these hard times and in the interest of the democracy."

Men who complain that necessity, on account of the weakness of one eye compels them to wear a monocle will be subjected to rigid physical examination to determine whether they are fit for the force.

The newspapers, commenting on the order, remark generally, "now the Republic is saved."

ACCEPT LOWER WAGES

York, S. C., Jan. 15.—Every York county cotton mill has reduced wages from 20 to 35 per cent. within the past sixty days.

There is no complaint on the part of the operatives—not even on the part of the union operatives. "Everything is coming down," they say, "and we can get along on less. What we want is work."

LIBRARY FOR ORPHANAGE

Greenwood, S. C. Jan. 15.—Judge T. J. Griffin and his niece, Miss Mabel Griffin have moved to Greenville. They will make their home with Geo. W. Griffin of that city. Upon the eve of his departure, Judge Griffin presented his library to the Connie Maxwell Orphanage and the books will be added to the collection of books which are in the Edward P. McKisick library building at the orphanage.

MUSIC ALL DAY LONG

Mr. J. F. Hill is a busy man these days. Monday morning he was up bright and early polishing up the windows of his music parlor and putting up attractive signs. A first class looking line of office furniture is being installed and in a few days there will be music all day long in the Victor Parlor.

J. J. ADAMS SUCCEEDS
LATE DR. HUGH AIKEN

Laurens, Jan. 15.—Following the election of the same board of directors at the annual meeting yesterday of the Laurens National Bank, of which the late Dr. Hugh K. Aiken was president, the directors elected J. J. Adams as president and George Blakely cashier. G. M. Miller and W. C. Wharton were elected vice presidents. Mr. Adams, the new president has been cashier of the bank for several years, while Mr. Blakely has been assistant cashier for about two years.

INSTRUCTOR TO GO

Washington, Jan. 15.—Sergeant Clark, for whose retention as national guard instructor in South Carolina there has been a clamor by state authorities, including the adjutant general, must accept new assignment the war department declared today.

A VISITOR FROM MISSISSIPPI

Mrs. M. W. Wendell is expected in Abbeville this week for a visit to her sister, Mrs. M. B. Reese. Mrs. Wendell will remain for several months and while she is here Mrs. Reese will go out to Mississippi and visit her old friends and home which visit will help her recover from the excessive nervousness from which she has suffered for some time.

ADMIRAL M'GOWAN
MAY PRACTICE LAW

Washington, Jan. 15.—Rear Admiral Samuel McGowan, retired prominent South Carolinian residing in Washington, will soon be an accredited attorney of the District of Columbia bar. He will be presented to all the courts, including the supreme court of the United States, by Charles Douglass, local attorney, who is another distinguished South Carolinian.

Admiral McGowan was admitted to the South Carolina bar in 1891 but he has never practiced. It is not anticipated that he intends actively to practice.

Texas has a new law aimed at preventing strikes in ports and railroad terminals and imposing heavy penalties for interference with workers during labor disturbances in these industries.
